

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

A SUMMARY OF THE RELIGIOUS NEWS OF THE STATE.

An Outline of the Influence Exerted by the Churches in North Carolina—Items of Interest.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The Spring session of Concord Presbytery will be held in Lenoir, beginning on Wednesday, April 9, and continuing until the succeeding Monday or Tuesday. There will be an attendance of about 75 delegates, who will be cordially welcomed to Lenoir.—Lenoir Topic.

Miss Elsie V. Lee, a Presbyterian missionary, of Mills river, Henderson county, will start the first day of April for Matamoros, Mex. She is said to be a highly educated and intellectual lady and a good linguist. She speaks Spanish and Italian fluently, and during her residence in Italy translated into English several Italian books. She goes under the auspices of the Presbyterian Mission Board and will join other missionaries in Mexico. Her knowledge of Spanish will enable her to begin at once her work with the natives. Missionaries generally have to wait one year or more so as to learn to speak the language, this retards their usefulness.—Shelby Aurora.

Rev. Dr. B. M. Palmer preached the sermon and Rev. Dr. Hoge delivered the address at the coming commencement of Columbia Theological Seminary.

The regular spring meeting of Fayetteville Presbytery will be held in Fayetteville and convene on the 15th of April, will be a very important one and a large attendance is called for and may be expected.

Rev. Dr. Mack, the distinguished evangelist of Fayetteville Presbytery, begins a series of meetings at Pittsboro to-day.

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Rev. J. P. Barrett, D. D., editor of the Christian Sun, has been appointed a delegate to represent North Carolina in the International Sunday-school Convention which meets at Pittsburg, Pa., June 24th, 1890. That is one good appointment.

The district meeting for the western section of the North Carolina Conference is in session at Bethlehem, and closes to-day. Rev. J. P. Barrett, of this city, is in attendance.

The Rev. Henley, of Virginia, is expected to assist in a series of meetings at the Christian Church in Durham at an early day.

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH.

A devout Catholic sends the CHRONICLE the following item:

"Father Charles, of Raleigh, will soon, according to promises made at various times, visit some of the smaller towns of North Carolina and give lectures on the church and its doctrines, in order to break down some of the prejudices existing against the church and to bring before the minds of the people that the Catholic Church is not the enemy of our American Institutions but one of its safe-guarders and supporters."

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Active preparations are being made to commence work on the new St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Charlotte. The new church will be the finest in the city, and will cost $15,000. It is to be of North Carolina brownstone and pressed brick.—Charlotte News.

Rev. Dr. Buxton will deliver his farewell sermon to-day at the Asheville Episcopal Church. He will be succeeded by Rev. McNeely DuBose, of Union, S. C.

Bishop Lyman confirmed fifteen fifteen at Peter's Episcopal church last Sunday. He also visited Thompson's Exchange and confirmed a class of ten.

At this ceremony, the Charlotte Chronicle says: "Quite a number of persons from the city were present to witness the beautiful and impressive service, and were glad that service appear more and more to be the home of little ones, and to be the home of little ones, and to be the home of little ones."

A resolution was adopted proposing to invite the Diocese of East Carolina to participate in the management, and to have the important measure, and if carried out will greatly enlarge the capacity of this important work.

A beautiful baptismal font of pure white marble has been presented to St. John's Church, in Fayetteville, by Mr. and Mrs. Slocum, in memory of their daughter Louise.

THE METHODIST CHURCH.

Concord's new Methodist church at Forest Hill which was erected mainly by the generosity of Capt. J. A. Odell and Mr. Will K. Odell, will be dedicated next Sunday. The eloquent and able Bishop Duncan will preach the dedicatory sermon. It will be an occasion of rare interest. The completion of this church gives Concord two handsome Methodist churches. The Odells have also built a large and elegant parsonage for the pastor.

The steeple of the beautiful new First Street M. E. Church was completed yesterday. It is 135 feet high. The church will probably be completed and ready for worship early in June.

BAPTIST FEMALE UNIVERSITY.

(Biblical Recorder.)

At a called meeting of the board of trustees of the Baptist Female University on the 20th of March, 1890, at Wake Forest College, it was unanimously agreed to by a rising vote, that their previous decision should stand, as to the location of the University, namely, in or near the city of Raleigh.

Frairie is due the minority for the graceful and sincere manner in which they yielded to the will of their fellow-trustees. Their example is a good one; let all the brotherhood follow it!

Brotherhood, let us have harmony and union in this great work; then enthusiasm followed by success will be the result.

As the Financial Secretary of the Board of Trustees, I earnestly invoke the sympathy and co-operation, of all the brotherhood, that they rally as one man in this work inaugurated by the Baptist State Convention. If so, we will find in this case, as we have found that of Wake Forest College, and all so of the Orphanage, that whenever, as a denomination, the Baptists of North Carolina undertake a work, it will succeed.

This work is greatly needed. We have neglected the education of our daughters.

There are 3,070,047 Missionary Baptists in the United States. There are 92 female seminaries with 4,470 students. There are 46 seminaries and academies, male and co-educating, with 5,335 students.

There are probably 180,000 white Baptists in North Carolina. More than half of these are females, say 95,000. If there are 36,000 families in this 180,000 people, there would probably be 60,000 girls of school age. How many have we now in our female colleges and high academies? Probably not more than 2,000. Who will educate the 58,000 remainder? Not Baptists. We must prepare to educate as many of these thousands of Baptist girls as possible, and that at the lowest possible cost. This necessitates an endowment. The education must be suited to all grades and classes of pupils, from ordinary and practical to advanced and complete courses, unsurpassed by others in any State. The endowment must be large, for the larger, the cheaper and more thoroughly can we educate.

An average of two dollars PER CAPITA would give us an ample endowment. Our tobacco bills will more than double that sum. Do Baptists esteem that luxury more than they love their daughters? Not if they will think. Our first solicitation for the endowment was met by a sister's response of $5,000. The Baptist women of North Carolina can endow this institution if they will. If every one will do a part, we shall soon finish the work—and only think, what training of Christ's people there will be found in the work itself.

Taking this, if you please, as my salutation, I promise, dear brethren, that you shall hear from me early and often. Let us all join hands and go to work in earnest. Send us your subscriptions to be paid in three years in twelve quarterly payments, the first payment due 1st April, 1890.

The office is in the Savings Bank, Raleigh, N. C. Yours for the work.

Churches are being erected at Walnut Cove, Ruffin and Dennis by Rev. S. F. Conrad.

UNDENOMINATIONAL.

Evangelist Fife will begin a series of meetings at Lenoirburg to-night. The Exchange says that preparatory services have been held in the Missionary Baptist Church every night for the past week. Mr. Fife goes to Gastonia early in April, and the Charlotte Chronicle says the people are endeavoring to secure a tent that will hold 1,200 people.

Y. M. C. A.

There will be a college Y. M. C. A. conference at Asheville April 3rd-6th. This is a conference under the auspices of the college committee of the Young Men's Christian Convention of North Carolina, of which Rev. Dr. Hume is chairman. Delegates from the University, Wake Forest, Trinity and Davidson will be there and confer with a gentleman from New York upon the best method of doing Christian work in colleges.
